

Thank you for your application
What happens next?

Thank you for taking the time to apply to join Greenbrook Healthcare. We appreciate every application we receive and will take the time to review yours closely.

So what happens now? Below is an overview of what you can expect from our application process.

Application Review

- Your application will have been sent to a manager within the local team you've applied to join. They'll take the time to review your CV against the job specification.
- Having reviewed your CV if suitable you can expect a call within the next few days – we'll try our best to call within two working days of receiving your application. This will give you the opportunity to ask any outstanding questions you may have, for us to talk through your CV and if appropriate arrange next steps.

Site visit and Interview

- If your application review shows you meet the job specification we'd love to invite you to the service to see how it works, meet the team and go through an interview for the position. If you've applied for one of our "ongoing" vacancies (i.e. General Practitioners, Emergency Nurse Practitioners or to join a reception bank) we'll aim to arrange your interview within a week of your successful application review (depending on availability.) Should you have applied for a standalone vacancy (i.e. Administrator / Service Manager etc) then we'll talk you through the interview process and dates when we call to discuss your application.
- When your interview is confirmed you'll receive another email, detailing what you can expect, how to find us, what to bring with you and direct contact details of the person(s) you're meeting.
- Following your site visit and interview we aim to provide feedback as soon as possible. Should you have applied for an ongoing vacancy we should come back to you within one working day of your interview. For standalone vacancies we will let you know when to expect a decision at your interview.

If you have any further questions then please don't hesitate to contact us on info@greenbrookhealthcare.com